Washington, April 18, 1867. To-day in the Criminal Court, Judge Fisher, preding, Mr. R. T. Merrick meved the Court to fix a day for trial of John H. Surratt, and suggested the 5th of May. Merrick recated the circumstances of Surratt's arrest le Alexandria, Egypt, his transportation to this country, the time which had clapsed since the indictment, and urged a speedy trial, in order that the prisoner might be discharged, or, if guilty, suffer the penalty of the law. The District Afterney stated that the prisoner had been treated with all the kindness consistent with the duty of a generales Government, anxious only to vindicate the analysis of the law. He did not think he would be ready for trial in two weeks, and suggested the second day of the June term, that is the 17th day of June next.

Mr. Bradley, sen., said the defense had made efforts to ready for a speedy trial. He proposed eighteen days from to-day, which would give time to secure witnesses from foreign countries and remote sections of the United States. The indictment was found on the 4th of Feb. France, 1867, and there was no reason why the District-Attorney should not have been ready immediately after the indictment. Mr. Bradley urged the dimited means of the prisoner and the inconvenience to which the defense would necessarily be subjected by a continuance. He asked for the fixing of a day.

would necessarily be subjected by a contribute. The Court said the metion of the District-Attorney amounted to a continuance.

The District Attorney agreed that it was his duty in this case, as in other cases of murder, to secure all the will-messor important to the case, and it might not be convenient to have them in two weeks.

The Court—How will four weeks from to-day do? Lapprehend we will hardly get through before that time.

Me. Alerrick said it was not for the defense to come into Court ready for trial. It was the duty of the Government to be ready and give the accused a speedy trial. We come into Court and compain of the delay attending this case. From the time of indictment, I submit, that the District Attorney had ample time to prepare for this case.

the District Attorney has supported to give a reason for continuous. He asked if there were any material witnesses in this case in foreign countries to be obtained. He named the witnesses in this case and argued that they were in reach of the Court. He would inquire if there were any new witnesses discovered, and submitted to the Court if, under these circumstances, there was any reason for a continuance of this case. If the District Attorney, with all the facilities of the Government, could not be ready in 16 days, he never would be ready. District-Attorney then stated his propositions:

The District-Attorney then stated his propositions:

Pirst-That it is the privilege of the prosecuting officer to fix a day for the trial of the case, and the Court has the prerogative of discharging the prisoner on his own recognizance, if he find the prosecuting officer has abused the privilege, and he would now move the Clerk enter upon the docket the 17th or 18th day of June as the day for trial. Second—If I am wrong in this opinion, although it was the opinion of Judge Crawford, upon the statement of the sworn officer of the Government, that he cannot it a day for the trial, upon that statement, you will continue the case because the privilege of speedy trial is to be understood in a qualified sense. There—I have not been remiss in the preparation of the case, and am not confined to witnesses on the indictment, and am bound to have every witness knowing aught of this case to testify in open court. In open court.
The Judge said he did not think he could set a day in he Jane term, as he would not preside at that term. I be should grant the motion, it would be for a continuance the should take the subject into consideration.

THE SCAFFOLD.

EXECUTION OF ALBERT TEUFEL. ATTEMPTED SUICIDE OF THE PRISONER-HE IS CARRIED TO THE SCAFFOLD.

BY TRINGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE. DOYLESTOWN, Pa., April 18.—Albert Teufel was Dung at this place to-day at 12:20 p. m. for the murder of who was shot in the left side and mortally wounded by hung at this place to-day at 12:20 p. in, for the marder of Capt. Whey at Bristol. During the early part of last evening your correspondent, in company with the father and uncle of the condemned man, and the Rev. Mossrs. George and Koppernigle, paid him a visit. He had been previously visited by Kate Hunter, his Philadelphia paramour. I found Tenfel quite talkative, and at once earlier of the wonder the econdemned in the left side and mortally wounded by the captain. William H. Pye, on the 19th of March, while bound from Para, South America, to this port. Drs. Washbarn and Leo made a post-mortem examination of the long of the decreased, and found that death was the long of the decreased, and found that death was the long of the econdemned by the jury. Capt. Pye, who was secured by the second mate immediately after the commission of the act, was handed over to the authorities on the arrival of the vessel-in this port, and has since that time been confined in the Tombs, awailing the result of Tunick vinitings. tered into conversation with him. He persistently as-serted his innocence of the crime of which he was convicted, although acknowledging participation in numerous other crimes. Among others, he said he was enaged in the robbery of the Mississippi steamer Mary P. For syth in 1862 or 1863; that he drugged the clerk of the steamer, and then rothed the affice of $15,600. Being asked where he spent the money, he replied. $60 a night." He further stated that he was connected with the rebbery of one of Adams Express Company's cars in the State of Ohlo some time since. That he was not directly in the robbery, but had a share of the proceeds. That the bonds there obtained were destroyed, but some $2,000 in greenbacks was divided. There were four engaged in the robbery. Of these three had been caught, but one was yet loose. Teufel's statements were He seemed inclined to beast of his participation in a large number of robberies. Stated that he had been mixed up in a number at Philadelphia, New-York, Trenton, and in age he lost all his property amounting to $150,000 in endeavoring, in partnership with one John Greene, to run a wagon train of clothes and mere handise from St. Jeseph to Pike's Peak. He also acknowledged participatsecaped detection by traveling alone and trusting no one. Respecting his parents he said that his mother died in Respecting his parents he said that his me'nes died in 1864, and that the man who represented himself as his father was not his parent. He said he had been in the army at times during the war; that he first enlisted in the 102d New York Regiment, but deserted and engaged in the bounty-jumping business; that humediately prier to the murder of Capt. Whey his beginess had been stealing males and everything he could. Throughout the interview the prisoner steadily denied participation in the murder of Wiley, and charged the same upon the boy Bick, the chief witness against thin on his trial, and a person whose name he would not give. He said that on the Thursday preceding the number he was at Trenton. N. J., on a drunk, and that he could easily, if allowed, on his trial have proved an aibb. He dwelt particularly on the hemousness of the morder, the murdered man having first been shot, and then strangled by means of a rope, and finally had his mouth and throat filled with oit rags. Said that if he had been going to commit murder he would not have done it in that way. Of himself and family relations he siated that he had been married three or four times, and had two or three children; was 23 year of age, and born at Philadelphia, Had forgotten the name of his first wife, except that it was Mary. That he attended wood's schaol, corner of Twenty-third and Lombard-sis, Philadelphia, until he was it years of age, and then went to work on the Lehigh and Delaware Casal. The above statements were made in response to questions, and are given only for what they may be worth. The prisoner is known as an inveterate har. During his imprisonment he has written a number of doggerel verses entitled "Hanging on Suspicion," to be sang to the air of "Down in New-Jersey," in which he appeals to all Christians not to make the acquaintance of a Backs County man, who will hall gone on suspicion. 1864, and that the man who represented himself as his doggered verses entitled "Hanging on Suspicion," to be sang to the air of "Down in New-Jersey," in which he appeals to all Christians not to make the acquaintance of a Encks County man, who will hang one on suspicion. His verses then relate to the fate of several markers him in this county, viz.: Ann Cruster, Minor and Blundin, and severely abuse the Judge, Sheriff and High Constable of the County, and complain of the food farmished him. At midnight, the prisoner was engaged in writing letters, but at 2 this morning was interrupted by a visit from his father. At the close of the interview, the attending priests requested the prisoner to spend the remaining hours of the hight in sient religious reflection, but he refused, and called for some whisky, which being farmished he partook of, and resumed his letter writing. At 5 o'clock, the attention of the Sheriff was drawn to him and he was found to be seriously ill. Physicians were at once sent for, who visited the prisoner and at 8 o'clock reported that he was shamming, that when they first saw him he pretended to be quite sick, but after awhile turned around and laughed at them, as if it was a "good loke." At 845, three quarters of an hour after this report was made. I again visited Feufel, and found that he had been selved with severe convulsions. As I entered his cell he lay upon the couch, calling upon the Sheriff to hang him quick, and writhing an great agony. At 8 o'clock he finally confessed that he had taken arsende at 2 o'clock in the morning, and, thinking he had not taken enough, he repeated the dose, At this time he was laboring under severe nervous prostration. The Doctors in attendance offered him morphine, but he refused to take it, saying he wanted the execution to take place immediately; that it could be done in 15 minutes, and he wished it done right. As it was doubtfal at this time if he could live much lake an over-dose of arsenic. He take it, saying he hearing general man over-dose of arsenic. He continually continued until 230 o'clock, when i continued until 220 o'clock, when it was found necessary to hold himedown upon the bed, which was done by Sergeant Murray and Officer Beers. It seemed as if he must soon die, but the physicians differed as to the cause of his conduct, some attributing it to poison, and others declaring that he was only "playing a bounty jumper's part."

At 10 o'clock the prisoner addressed an attendant with the remark (no doubt referring to the poisoning) "the tob was not done right, or I would have gone before this time." At this time rumors of the scenes inside the prison having reached the village, into which crowds had been pouring from the adjoining towns for 24 hours, an immense throng had assembled outside the court-yard, and the surrounding walls were thickly covered with the curious. At 10:00 o'clock, the prisoner sack into a quiet slumber, which was occasionally disturbed by the calls of visitors and the sound of voices from the crowd outside, who were clamoring for his execution. The prisoner has eaten but a few oysters and sardines since yesterday. Prominent physicians called in at this time, the condemned man. At 12:20 the drop fell. The prisoner died easy and from the effects of the fall.

FOUR MURDERS.

HOMICIDE IN THE SEVENTH WAND-INQUEST BY CORONER WILDRY.

Shortly before 1 o'clock yesterday morning; orning a row occurred in the "Library" saloon, No. 17 Jefferson at., kept by Marcus H. Tallman, between John R. Livingston, residing at No. 31 New Canal-st., and Vincent Cody of No. 23 Cherry-st., and Edward Allen of No. cent Cody of No. 333 Cherry-st., and Edward Alien of No. 201 East Twelfth-st. During the fracas Cody shot Livingsion in the head with a pistol, causing a wound that terminated fatally in a few moments. Cody and Alien left the saloon immediately after the occurrence, but were met soon after in Madison-st., Dear Jefferson, in company with a number of those who had winessed the

In the mean time, Police Surgeon Eliven had been notified to visit the weinded, man, and was coon in altendance; but before his awival life was extinct. The body was then conveyed to the Station-House.

Coroner Widely was notified, and at 11 o'clock proceeded to the Station-House and held an impucs on the bedy. A number of witnesses were examined. From their testimony it appears that there were present in the back room of the saloon, just previous to the disturbance, a number of persons, most of whom were partially intoxicated. After the party had taken several drinks, one of the number proposed that they should throw dice. To this Livingston at first objected, but finally consented. After a time Cody accused. Livingston of fingering the dice. This the latter densed, and with oaths called the party lines and loaders. He then turned to go out into the front room, when he was knocked down by Allen. Cody and and Allen then attacked him, and kicked and best him about the face and hoad. Livingston attempted to escape them by getting under the counter, but was dragged out, and the attack continued by Cody and Allen. The proprietor of the saloon attempted to stop the row and release Livingston from his assailants. Some of fine bystanders called to Allen and Cody to be careful or Livingston would shoot. Cody said: "He Il shoot, will he!" and producing a pistol fired at Livingston. The shot took effect in the forchead, and the wounded man at once feil back and expired in a few minutes. Tallman attempted to detain the assailants, but they shook him off and left bhe store. It was claimed by one or two of the winds at the pistol used by Cody was taken by disciplinate decain the assailants, but they shook him of and left the store. It was claimed by one or two of he witnesses that the pustol used by Cody was taken by inn from the deceased. Sergt, Babcock on examining he body soon after it was conveyed to the Station-House ound in one of the coat pockets a justol holster and a sawn ticket for a pistol, which had been pledged on the slinst. Cody and Allen soon after the occurrence enered the Seventh Preciset Station-House and surrentered the missives. Departy Coroner Wooster Beach, M. D., ande a post motten examination, of the body, and found hat the bail had penetrated the left temple and passed into the brain causing death. The jury, after a short deficiency, Cody being returned as the principal in the evidence, Cody being returned as the principal in the affeny and Allen as an accessory before the fact. On the rendition of this verdet the Coroner committed the prisoners of the Tombs without bail, to await the action of the grand-Jury.

THE TURF. UNION COURSE.

Winter having taken his departure, and fine Spring weather having established itself, patrons of the turf again resort to their favorite amusement.

The Union Course has long been a popular place of re sort for all the admirers of fast horses, for the reason that sort for all the admirers of fast horses, for the reason that it is easy of access, approached by excellent roads, and just such a distance from the metropolis as a gentleman would select for his afternoon ride; and yesterday the roads being in the very best condition, a large number of people visited the Course. Although none of the horses entered could be considered first-class, still they were sufficiently good to elicit much interest in their coutest, as a slow race may be indeed quite as enjoyable as a fast one, if the struggle is close.

Prominent physicians called in at this time, after examination, declared their belief that he was feigning. His pulse throughout has beaten regularly. If he had taken arsenic, it is believed that it must have been familished him by Kate Slauter, his paramony, who visited him yesterday. At 11 o'clock he was visited by the attending priests, and soon became engaged in devotional exercises. At 11.35 the last sacrament was administered, after which his hands were securely fastened by the Eheriff and every preparation made for the execution. At 1215 the procession, headed by the Sheriff, arrived at the gallows. The prisoner was obliged to be carried, his limits being unable to support him. He made no confession whatever. The only seeme at the gallows was the fabriting of the Deputy Sheriff who fastened the noose on

THE CITY VENDUE.

MORE OF THE LOTS TO BE SOLD ON MONDAY NEXT. We gave yesterday a brief description of a part of the lots and parcels of real estate which now belong to the city, but which will be put up at auction on Monday next. The list is continuous below, and will be found highly valuable reading by city tax and rent payers. The Controller has issued maps of the property, but these maps improve upon the vagueness of the property, but takes maps improve upon the vagueness of the catalogue only in point of giving the area of the buildings or lots.

An inquest was held by Coroner Wildey and a

THE CARPENTERS' STRIKE.

Instead of considering the possibility of failure, the corneyman carpenters who are yet "out on strike" are planning to make their separation from their late employers permanent, and yesterday, in pursuance of their plan, subscriptions were taken for a fund wherewith to establish in this city a Coöperative Carpenters' Shop. They estimate the cost of a workshop capable of giving employment, inside and outside, to fifty journymen, at $10,000—a sum which they can raise among themselves without drawing more than $100 each from the savings' banks. Doubters are pointed to the Troy Coöperative Foundery, an institution which was started as the result of a strike, in July last, with only $22,000 capital, in shares of $100 each, and which has been a triumph of coöperation from the beginning. Its first report, dated Jan. 1, 1807, shows the net profits on five months' labor to have been $8,000. Besides, the cooperative foundery kept its employés at work during the entire dull season—a time when, work being suspended, journeymen moiding the journeymen can become their own employers, surely the Carpenters, whose business does not require large capital, ought no longer to stand awaiting the beek of the employing carpenters of this city. At last evening's session of the Strike Committee, it was reported that not more than 40 strikers have been necessitated to apply for relief; that not more than half of the fund has been consumed; that an abundance of means has been promised to be forthcoming on Saturday night, and that wherever an appeal has been made to workingmen they have responded almost unanimously. All the speeches last night were calculated to encourage the strikers. One speaker said: "We find from the authenticated reports from the various shops that all of the employing carpenters who are striving to keep our wages down are crippled, and that we have only about 100 men out. I desire to say to the public that the large employers, who are working on easily buildings, have employed inferior mechanics, and that the best carpenters are to-day to be found in the jobbing shops; therefore owners who want good work will see about that. I insist that this strike—which, by the way, is the ers permanent, and yesterday, in pursuance of their plan, subscriptions were taken for a fund wherewith to estabbut a strike of the landlords, who have advanced rents and coerced us into asking more money to enable us to keep our heads above water." Other speakers reported the names of carpenters belonging to the Employers' Association, who are alleged to be openly paying $4 a day, while others are "whipping Satan around the stump." This the journeymen offer to prove. A speaker advised capitalists to preserve the employers' published card, and refuse to pay more than the usual half-dollar profit to the men who are pretending to pay their workmen only $3.60 a day, and the speaker offered, further, to lay an even wager that there are not more than 25 employers who are not, directly or indirectly, paying the price demanded. Several employers applied, yesterday and last evening, for first-class workmen, and were supplied. Adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning.

IMPARTIAL SUFFRAGE .- A lecture was last evening delivered at the African Civilization building in Dean-st. near Troy-ave., Brooklyn, by Sergeant William H. Carney of the 58th Massachusetts (Colored) Regiment. The speaker took for his subject: "Reconstruction, and the Right of Suffrage," and advocated the rights of the colored race to the elective franchise, claiming that they had purchased that right by their action in the late war. The subject of "Reconstruction" was but lightly touched beginning that they had purchased that right by their action in the late war. The subject of "Reconstruction" was but lightly touched

LOARD OF EXCISE.

The Commissioners of Excise were in session yeserday from 10 o'clock a. m. Whill 5 p. m., examining cases of alleged violations of the Excise Law. There were 30 cases tried, resulting in 17 convictions, beside two cases cases tried, resulting in 17 convictions, beside two cases in which the Courts had already revoked their licenses. The specious Hall at Police Headquarters was crowded during the entire day, there being a number of witnesses who were willing to swear that there had been no violations of the law. In one case the members of a Glee Club were present to testify that they bought their lager on Saturday night by the wholesale, morder to have in readiness on Sunday, but, as one of the Commissioners remarked, "the club game was played out." The following-named persons had their licenses revoked: Daniel Suchan, Pirst-ave. between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth-sts.; William Sheridan, No. 48 Roosevelt-st.; Francis Bradley, No. 520 Grand st.; Bernard Sexton, No. 217 Lewisst.; Peter McCabe, No. 222 Sixth-st.; Edward Hare, No. 108 Avenue A: George Zuckschereikdt, No. 305 Fifth-st.; Patrick Anderson, No. 719 Washington-st.; Thomas Simott, No. 119 Charlton-st.; Patrick Aheen, No. 308 Avenue A: Christopher Eickhore, No. 128 Rivington-st.; Arthur Moore, No. 222 Monroe-st.; Carraher & Powers, No. 1 Chathiam-square; George C. Henning, No. 81 Jackson-st.; John Calahan, No. 422 Second-ave.; Frederick Kirker, Sixty-thrid-st. and Tenth-ave., and Jacob Boit, No. 104 Sixth-st., had their licenses revoked, having been convicted in the Court of Special Sessions.

The monotony of the day was broken by the interest manifested in the trial of Daniel Sheehan. The compilainant in this case was Mrs. Mills, who resides at No. 810 Third-ave. With a faltering voice she told the story of her sufferings. She stande that on several sundays past her husband had come home intoxicated, bringing with him liquor. On one occasion while drunk he had abused and beat her, breaking her arm. She had determined to find out where he had obtained his liquor, but to succeed she was compelled to resort to a little deception. On one of these Sundays she complained of being unwell, and requested her husband to get her some gin. He did not want her to have it, and suggested in which the Courts had already revoked their licenses.

MUTUAL BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

NEWARK, N. J.

[ORGANIZED IN 1845.1 Having paid losses on deceased members amounting to $5,125,425, and declared in dividends to the living the sum of $6,002,839, with assets well secured amounting to over $12,000,000, has just declared its TWENTIETH annual dividend, being 50 per cent.

It continues to issue all classes of Life Policies, at the lewest rates con sistent with perfect security to the members. Its distinguishing features are economy in expenditure, and care in its management. It pays no stockholders for the use of capital, no bonness or commissions to officers, and no immederate compensation to agents. All its Directors attend its meetings, and serve on its committees. Its risks are carefully selected so as to seenre sound lives. It is careful in adjusting losses, and prompt in payment.

Its fands are invested with regard to security, never hazarding princips for interest; hence it has never lost a dollar on its investments. After paying losses and expenses, and reserving the value of all outstanding policies, it has always made an annual dividend of return premiums to the members, and paid them when duc.

It is a "MUTUAL BENEFIT" Company, having but one class of mem bers, all life policies, both new and old, sharing equally in the annual division of surplus, receiving a dividend on every premium paid. It endeavors, in brief, to act in all respects as a faithful trustee for the members. Having for every twenty years pursued this course, it proposes to continue it in the future, and offers its advantages to all who desire to
